WHERE IS COIN COLLECTING GOING?

Morris Plains, NJ-March 10, 2005. Michael Fey will be giving a Numismatic Theatre presentation on April 9th, 2005 at 4 PM at the Spring ANA National Convention to be held in the Van Horn Room of the Hyatt Crown Center in Kansas City, MO. The topic will be “Where is Coin Collecting Going?”

In the wake of roughly $78+ million in record coin auction sales during the first month of 2005, which surpasses all of last year sales, it would appear as if coins prices have entered into a bull market. In order to understand where coin collecting is going on several different collecting levels, it's first important to first see where they've been. This presentation will offer a brief evolution of the coin hobby from the early 1850's to date followed by a short presentation and open group discussion of where coin collecting appears to be heading, both from a collector's and investor's point of view.
